Working on the web is no longer a shortcut to the desktop. Now you can edit your masterpieces on mobile, tablet, and desktop anywhere, any time. With your favorite web browser, you can instantly access all of your creative tools regardless of where you are. Work on files in a browser and continue editing elsewhere. Adobe doesn't want your files to live only on the desktop. You're the master artist. You can share work with a group of art directors, a fine art gallery, or a poster printing company. You can provide your own renditions of their artwork along with any text and logos, and you can save and work on the files off-line. You can continue editing another computer or use your tools anywhere you are—currently, Dreamweaver is not supported in Photoshop—and share your work in real time by just selecting the file and pushing it to other friends, family or collaborators. You can even share videos and Adobe Stock images from the same browser. Improvements to object selection makes it easier to pick areas in an image, and accurately remove unwanted objects when needed. The Fill command now has an elimination preview. Other new features include content-aware face removal, automatic adjustment layers, and better versions of powerful tools like Liquify and Warp. Thanks to AI (artificial intelligence), you can use Photoshop with unprecedented ease and efficiency—from one browser window to another, on new and powerful features like Content-Aware Fill. Photoshop CC on the web is the result of pioneering thinking and an evolution of the product to make it easier than ever to work with. It delivers breakthroughs in selection, smart object sharing, and enhanced image editing tools.
